Some affected Lincoln editors, feeling

their own weakness, are looking for consolation to the divisions in their ranks. The opposition will be divided, they hope, which will be some compensation for the sufferings of the faithful on account of the divisions in their ranks.

The Democrats have had some experience of the evils of division in Presidential elections, and can claim exemption from such misfortune. Four years ago the majority of the Southern men who had sided with the Democratic party abandoned it and set up for themselves. The chiefs in this movement intended to break up the Union, and took this method to accomplish their purpose. They foresaw that to break up the Union the next step needed was the defeat of the Democratic party, and the success of the Abolitionists. There has already shown what this movement cost the South and the country. All who co-operated with the defectors did not expect good results. Some were lighted on, and some were lighted on. They had themselves outwitted. They had themselves outwitted. They had themselves outwitted.

There will be some of the same sort at Chicago.

They will have themselves hardened enough to bring evil upon their country, but too tender to meet them with a single sharp word. The coordinate of a for one use, it is not a good sign. There is no lack of men who will do well, and perhaps, the favorite may make the best President. It is quite possible that some one not spoken of, and who has no friends to reward or console to punish, may be the most eligible man.

But the Democrats have one advantage.

They have far more pretensible agency than the Republicans. The latter got the last election by the lotteries and signs of James Buchanan, and a just South that did not want to elect a Democratic President.

We have to such trouble now. It is the united purpose of the opposition to elect a President and have a divided and distracted country. The Republicans not only could never elect a President against a united opposition, but they have shown that when in power they can only do evil. They found a country distracted by sectional feuds, and they have made it tenfold worse. They have multiplied enemies, and the longer they rule the more enemies they will have. Amidst all their rights and wrongs, and all their qualities, there never was a party so utterly destitute of political wisdom, so utterly incompetent to manage a country like ours, their practices would destroy any government and break up any country. They would be sure to make a rebellion, if there were none, if they held power long. They have spent three or four billion of money, and at a moderate calculation sacrificed a million of men, and there are more rebels to-day than there were when the rebellion broke out, and the longer they hold power and follow their programs the more rebels they will make.

The opposition are satisfied of this.

They are every one that interest and passion can suggest to do; the party is powerless. There are no differences of any magnitude amongst them, and scores of thousands who have sided with the dominant party see it will not do; that if they wish to save a country they must defeat the party in power.

What, then, differences at Chicago may do evil, it is not probable. There is very little ground for the celebration of the faithful hope for. It is enough, as a primary object, to put out of power a party that is ruining the country; whereas settled plan of action can only make matters worse and worse.

The ingratitude of Republicans has been an old saying, whose truthfulness has been acknowledged and complained of by many generations of patriots who wanted order. But as this ingratitude of Republicans is, and sharper than a serpent's tooth, it is nothing to the ingratitude of Republicans. Who, a year ago, when they were shouting over the name of Mr. Chase as the "Father of the Greenbacks," would suppose that in the little circle of a twelve-month the same person would have fallen so low as to be defeated in his own party by a little Jack-legged lawyer for the candidacy for Congress?

Why is this? Do they acknowledge at last that all his boasted services were injuries, that he was not a patriot, but a traitor, and that the greenbacks which he flooded the country actually smothered its life? We hear no such remarks. His financial skill is still vaunted in the face of the fact, and his policy is sustained by his party. Why is this?

Not yesterday the worst of Salmon might be said to be a man of no use, he there, and now so poor as to be for sale.

Lost in credit and character with those who delighted most to honor him, "He hath brought many concepts home to Rome, whose names did the general officers all. Did the poor have cried Salmon hath and money should be made of 'sterling steel.' You all did that time at Baltimore. You three presented him a kingly crown. Was this ambition? And sure he is an honorable man."

There is the trouble. Mr. Lincoln has said

he would not do, and the party in his Congressional district have resolved to tell off after the President's dictation, no matter what that thing which they call their opinions may be.

To add insult to injury, these snubbers of his fame, these Corcorans and Chases of republicans, not satisfied with the destruction of Mr. Chase and putting a Mr. Eggleston in his place, have actually written him a letter requesting him to say that he approves of his own reputation. It is as if the slaughterers of Oscar had called on him to come to life and express his approval of the murder of himself as a thing highly patriotic and agreeable to his feelings. Will he do it?

Not pay the debt which he leaves to the nation, and pay the owner of the debt. That should you be the law. And how the lobbyist that he has left his knuckles in your paw."

But don't do that, Mr. Chase. Don't increase your own downfall, though if the world drop, and don't plead guilty to the party and men who have betrayed you. Not only we drop the sun without a shadow to the Mark Antony of the Commercial, with the hope that he will send these little tribunes to the bottom of the sea, or that the spirit of Chase shall meet them at the Congressional Phillips.

The New York Herald has a timely article upon the subject of an armistice, from which we clip the following:

CITY NEWS.

Accident on the Nashville Railroad—Three Persons Injured.

Wednesday night an accident occurred on the Nashville railroad, about one mile and a half from the city of Nashville, Ky., by which the tender, express car, baggage car, and one passenger car were destroyed, and three persons slightly injured. Wednesday afternoon there was a severe storm in the neighborhood of Elizabethtown, which did considerable damage to property in that section. At 5 o'clock in the evening, the train began to fall in torrents, and continued until 12 at night without intermission. So swift did the water rush through the culvert near Elizabethtown, that about twenty-five feet of it was nearly washed away. The passenger train which left here for Nashville Wednesday evening, at 7 o'clock, proceeded without accident to the place above named. The engineer not being aware of the damage to the culvert, proceeded on without checking up. The engine passed over safely, but, when the tender and express car got on the culvert, it gave way, precipitating these two cars to the ground beneath. The baggage and one passenger car were also drawn over, and the four cars soon were wrecked, but, strange as it may seem, but three persons were injured, and they but slightly. The persons injured were Gus Layman, the baggage master, one white man, and a negro boy, who were employed on the train. These persons were in the baggage car, and were considerably bruised by the car turning over. Their injuries, though serious, will not prove fatal.

PEACE OFFENSES—Thursday, August 18.—Henry, slave of Carson, assaulting Albert Emory; discharged.
John Murray, Kate French, Mary Buckley, Ellen Klemm, Mike Cummings, P. O. Weir, and Richard Cassell, all drunk and disorderly conduct on Eleventh street.

Wm. Suberland, disorderly conduct and slightly intoxicated; fined $5.
Jas. Martin, drunkenness; fined $5.
Wm. Fulton, charged with carrying articles to prisoners for the purpose of making their escape.

Terry Ridge and John Welch, drunk and disorderly conduct; sent to the military, as they were walking.
John Sead, drunk and disorderly conduct; discharged.

Jan. W. Richey, having stolen a horse in Indiana this morning, was pursued and ordered by Mr. Reynolds's stable; committed for 60 days to await a requisition from Indiana.

Claudius Higgins, stealing horses; sent to the military prison.

WAKING THE D. G. FAYLE.—Our readers need no doubt familiar with the burning and sinking of the D. G. Taylor at the city wharf near the foot of Third street. The hold of the boat was filled with boxes belonging to the Government, a greater portion of which could be saved. A diver had been procured for that purpose, but the parties to whom the contract of raising the lost property was awarded failed to accomplish that object, and our friend Captain Perry McNeely, of Petersburg, was engaged to raise the cargo, and from present appearances will raise the entire lot, and also raise the hull of the sunken boat.

MEETING OF THE SCHOOL BOARD.—The Board of School Trustees met at the City Hall last evening at half past seven o'clock, to take into consideration the salaries of the professors in the public schools. The salaries of these persons were, we learn, changed from $1,250 to $1,350 per year, which was but just. We hope the Board will take into consideration the salaries of the teachers in the primary department. What they now get is entirely too low, and we hope that their salaries will also be increased.

MASONIC TEMPLE.—Masonic Temple will be open to night, on which occasion a grand entertainment, consisting of the thrilling drama of "Milton's Crime" and a grand concert, led by Mr. Dawson, will be given for the benefit of Moore, Mortimer, Coleman and Ritey. These young men are well deserving the compliment which is to be bestowed upon them, and as the bill offered is an excellent one, the hall will not doubt be crowded.

ANOTHER CANDIDATE.—Colonel Oliver L. Baldwin, of Jefferson county, who is still in the army, announces himself a candidate for the State Senate, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Gibson Mallory. Colonel B. is well known as a gallant soldier and excellent citizen. He will hereafter issue an address to the voters of this senatorial district.

OFFICER RYAN arrested a horse thief yesterday morning, who had in his possession two stolen horses from the neighborhood of Charleston, Indiana. The horse is the officer's possession is a blood bay, fifteen hands high, about twelve years old and in good condition. The horse can be had by applying at the police office.

DETENTION OF THE FRANKFORT TRAIN.—The afternoon train, due at seven o'clock, did not reach the city until after ten o'clock last night. Some accident to the machinery, at a point beyond Frankfort, was the cause of the detention.

NUMBER OF REBEL SOLDIERS.—We are told, have lately descended and crossed into Indiana, and are trying to make their way into Canada, tired of the war. Many of them have been arrested by the military authorities.

WE would call the attention of the pump man to the pump at the corner of Brook and Main streets, which has been out of repair for some time.

JEFFERSON HOSPITAL.—While so many additions are made to the death-dealing powers of instruments of war, it is gratifying to know that beneficent measures are taken for the preservation of life and the relief of suffering. Yesterday we visited the Jefferson U. S. Army general hospital at Jeffersonville, Ind., under the charge of Dr. Middleton Goldsmith, and were delighted to see the excellent arrangements. Though the hospital presents mournful evidence of the horrors of war, it shows that man is not altogether without hope. The gentle spirit of peace is there healing the wounds of the brave soldier, as we hope it will yet heal the wounds of our beloved country.

Some of the men of the hospital may be found from the fact that it requires a walk of about four miles to go through all the wards. These wards are arranged in a circle, with a wide colonnade connecting them. Here we found a large number of the inmates engaged in conversation and various games. Perfect cleanliness everywhere prevailed. No disagreeable smell is perceptible in any part of the building. So perfect are the arrangements in this respect that when one approaches the building in which there are more than a hundred beds, one is not aware of the fact that there are so many of them. The nurse gives him no intimation of the use to which the building is appropriated. Any one may see that Dr. Goldsmith understands the use of water and air. Among thirteen hundred and seventy-eight patients in the last month only four have died.

We saw several bad cases of hospital gangrene which have been treated with bromine. The bromine cure, discovered by Dr. Goldsmith, is one of the most important discoveries of the modern era. It is a powerful antiseptic, and is used in the treatment of all kinds of ulcers, and in the treatment of all kinds of wounds, and in the treatment of all kinds of diseases.

The immense kitchen arrangements form a very striking feature of the hospital. One cannot but admire the perfect system by which the food is distributed. A bill of fare is issued every day, of "full diet" and "extra diet." Every one to whom "extra diet" is allowed receives a card stating the articles and the amount to which he is entitled. Printed forms are received by the chief cooks of the "full diet kitchen" and the "extra diet kitchen," showing how much is to be delivered to the nurse of each ward. Other forms direct each nurse how to distribute the articles among the patients in his ward.

Dr. Goldsmith is very desirous that the grounds should be beautified under the superintendence of the ladies. He will furnish the laborers and a large number of plants, and give the ladies an opportunity of showing their taste.

A NEW DEDICATE-A NUMBER OF CITIZENS—The city is filled with rogues and sharpers of all descriptions, and every dodge is being resorted to to rob the citizens of their property, and at the same time commit the act in such a manner as to avoid detection. The latest dodge resorted to, and one which has proved successful in many instances, is the following: Two or three men will travel together, and meeting a citizen, they will at once search him, taking from him all the arms he has, representing themselves as detectives, and ordering the citizen to report at the office in the morning, when his arms will be returned, provided all is right. The citizen, not suspecting anything wrong, goes to the office the next day to procure what was taken from him the previous night, when he learns that he has been imposed upon by a party of sharpers. On Monday night an old and well known citizen was accosted on the street by three men and arrested. After searching and taking from him what he had, they then told him that he would release him upon condition that he would appear at the next morning. According to promise he made his appearance, but the party representing themselves as citizens could not be found. We would warn our citizens against this class of persons, and would advise them to report to the police if they are taken into custody by these men.

MOON-OUTRAGES.—A lady who resides some twelve miles from here, on the Seventh street black road, arrived in our city yesterday, bringing with her the intelligence that that section was infested with prowling bands of highwaymen, who have for some time been committing all sorts of depredations on the citizens. On the 15th instant a party of seven of them paid a visit to the house of Mr. Mangham and Adam Arnold and robbed them of a considerable amount of money and some clothing. They, while at the house of Mangham, informed Mrs. Mangham that they would soon pay another visit to that neighborhood, as they had other houses to visit. The citizens of that neighborhood are without the means of defense, but state that if they had arms and ammunition they could defend them selves against these bands of highway robbers. The authorities should take some steps to protect our citizens against these outrages.

ST. AGNES' HALL, TERRE HAUTE, INDIANA.—We direct the attention of our readers to the advertisement of St. Agnes' Hall, a female college at Terre Haute, Indiana. This school, hitherto known as the Terre Haute Female College, has been purchased from its late owner, and is now established under the auspices of the Episcopal Church. It is most thorough in its organization, and its faculty will consist of nearly twenty teachers. Terms will be placed to make it an object to those having daughters to educate. Read the advertisement for particulars.

THE THEATRE.—The theatre reports Gen. Sheridan seriously wounded, and Col. Stright, of the Fifty-first Indiana volunteers, killed, in a recent encounter with Wheeler's cavalry near Grayville, Georgia. It is stated that the rebel forces are dividing up into small forces, and making demonstrations upon many of the small towns within the Federal line. Their object is doubtless to damage the railroads and destroy Sherman's communications.

MUSIC AND PERIODICALS.—Our old friend Frederick Finner has opened a music, book and periodical store under the United States, on Fourth street, between Jefferson and Green. He will keep everything that is choice in the musical line, and papers and periodicals from all the principal points in the United States, and furnish them at the shortest possible time after publication. He has a choice stock on hand. Give him a call.

The transfers were 270 convalescents and recruits to the front to their respective regiments, and two deserters to Nashville.

PASSING COUNTERFEIT MONEY.—Yesterday morning Ernest Gruber was before the Police Court, charged with having passed a five dollar counterfeit bill upon a blind man by the name of Robert Green. It appears that some time during the month of July the accused purchased of Mr. Green a quantity of shucks, and amongst the money paid for the same was a five dollar bill on the "Bank of the State of Indiana," which proved to be a counterfeit. Mr. Green afterwards applied to Gruber, and requested him to redeem the note, which the latter refused to do. Having no other alternative, Mr. Green swore out a peace warrant, upon which Gruber was arrested. The accused no doubt thought that by passing the money upon a blind man, it would never be found out, or if it was, that the man being blind, could not recognize the bill before a police court. Gruber will have a hearing before the Police Court this morning.

DAN RICE'S GREAT SHOW.—Those of our citizens who have not witnessed the grand performance given by Dan Rice should delay the opportunity no longer, as he remains with us but two nights longer. The trained horse Excelsior is one of the finest animals we have ever seen, and the entire show combined is undoubtedly the excellent of this country. They give two performances to-day, one at half-past 2 o'clock and one at half-past 7.

The train from Nashville arrived last night some two hours behind time, having been detained on account of the accident near Elizabethtown. The break in the road at that point has been repaired and the trains will now run through regularly. There were no casualties along the line. The attentive mail agent, Mr. Pullford, has our thanks for Nashville papers.
